ald I think of dragging alou is, Of dreary, dragging clouds of gray, When I have seen them douter; ngitt, Snow-mountains binning wit and bright Of filmy feathers faint and white, Um many a bygone day !

Why should I think of sighlag wit Of sighing winds that shake the rain,
When I've felt breezes fresh and slear,
That ling forever rast my car.
And brenthe of standard grain or near
O'er clover boths and grain?

Why should i think of ters I'be mis, When I've knowndays so grandly bright, to full of freedom and delight, That, though all after life wars night, I never can forgat?

The sea occupies three-fifths of the surface of the earth. At the depth of about 3,500 feet waves are not felt. The temperature is the same, varying only a trifle from the ice of the pole to the lurning sun of the equator. A mile down the water has a pressure of over a ton to the s-uare inch. If a box six feet deep were falled with sea water and allowed to evaporate under the sun, there would be two inches of sait leit on the bottom. Taking the average depth of would be two inches of sait leit on the bottom. Taking the average depth of the ocean to be three miles, there would be a layer of pure sait 23) feet thick on the bed of the Atlantic. The water is colder at the bottom than at the surface. In the many bars on the coast of Norway the water often freezes at the bottom before it does above.

Wayes are very decentive. To look at Waves are very deceptive. To look at them in a storm, one would think the water traveled. The water stays in the same place, but the motion goes on. Sometimes in storms these waves are forty feet high, and travel lifty miles an hour-more than twice as fast as the swiftest steamer. The distance from valley to valley is generally litteen times the height hence a wave five feet high swiftert steamer. The distance from vailey to valley is generally liteen times the height, hence a wave five feet high will extend over seventy five leet of water. The force of the sea dashing on Bell Rock is said to be seventeen tons for each square yard. Evaporation is a wonderful power in drawing the water from the sea. Every year a layer of the entire sea fourteen inches thick is taken up into the clouds. The winds bear their burden to the land, and water comes down in rain upon the fields, to flow back at last through rivers. The depth of the sea presents an interesting problem. If the Atlantic were lowered v.554 feet, the distance from shore to shore would be half as great, or 1,550 miles. If lowered a little more than three miles, say 9 8 feet, there would be a road of div land from Newfoundland to Ireland. his is the plan on which the great Atlantic cables were laid. The Mediterranean is comparatively shallow. A drying up of 660 feet would leave three dimerent seas, and Africa would be joined to italy. The British Chaunel is more like a pond, which secounts for its choppy waves. It has been difficult to get correct soundings of the Atlantic. A midshipman of the navy overcame the difficulty, and a shot weighing thirty pounds carries down the line. A hole is bored through the sinker, through which s rod of iron is passed, moving easily back and forth. In the end of the bar a cup is dug out and the inside is coated with lard. The bar is made fast to the line, and a

out and the inside is coated with lard. The bar is made fast to the line, and a sling holds the shot on. When the bar, which extends below the ball, touches the earth, the sling unbooks and the shot slides of. The lard in the ent of the bar holds some of the sand, or whatever may be on the bottom, and a drop shuts over the cup to keep the water from washing reached, a shock is feet as if an electric current had passed through the line.

Trovided with a good boxful of letters, either on wood or cardboard, a clean table, and three or four pleasant companions a very pleasant hour may be spent. It is almost needless to give directions how to proceed with the letters, for they can be used in a variety of ways, according to inclination. Sometimes a word is formed by one per.on, the letters of which he passes on to his neighbor, asking him to find ou! what the word is. A still more into resting method is for the whole party to aix upon one long word, and all try in a certain time how many different words can be made of it. Or another way, even better still, is to shuffle the letters well together, and then to give to each person a certain number. All must then make a sentence out of the letters, whether with or without sense, as best they can. The transposition of words, too, is very amusing, and can be done either with the loose letters or with pencil and paper.

The names of poets, authors, or great men famous in history may be given, the letters of which may be so completely altered as to form words or sentences totally different from the original.

For instance:— Trovided with a good boxful of letters,

For instance:-We lads get on Rich able man. Side Rail.

Chamberlain. Disraeli.

This game is one that even very young children can understand. One of the company thinks of a word rhyming with another word which he mentions. The aim of the party then is to guess what the word thought of can be. The rule is that no one should give a name to what they guess, but describe it instead, and each of the company in turn is entitled to a question. Should the word thought of be "bag," rhyming with "rag," the questions must be put thus:—

"Is it a necessary part of a boot-lace?"

"No. it is not a tag." "Is it the name of a horse?"

"Yes, it is a bag."

"No, it is not a nag." "Is it the name of an elegant horned animal?" "No, it is not a stag."
"Is it useful to schoolboys and girls?"

He pointed out all the celebrities. The ta'l man with the on own pritar wis known as the king of the princes. The dance to-night wis for his benefit. La Tonta was his dangiter, and the best dancer in Spain. She did not dance often. He was sure I would not be disappointed. But the dance was about to begin.

A great clapping announced La Tonta as she entered quickly from a side door, and stood facing the mirror. To the surprise she was a tell, thin, ungraceful, badly-formed, and stattorn-looking gypsy woman, by no means young.

She was attired in a long yellow calico gown hanging loosely about her, much the worse for were and not overel an. She wore black kid slippers and white cotton stocking. Her skin was an like all women of her race, and her eyes large and luminous. Her mass of jet-black hair was crucht in a twist behind, the whole decorated with blossoms of the tuberose.

I looked at Matco in surprise, but his expression was too earnest and his admiration too cincere. He evidently did not agree with me in my estimation of La Tona. He laid his hand upon my knee and said, "Wait!"

At this instant a stout gypsey in his shirt sleeves, who had been beating time with his cane, and who appeared to be master of ceremonies, cleared the floor, pressing everybody back against the wall.

La Tonta stood surveying herself in the La Tonta slood surveying herself in the mirror which hung over the mantel. She nodded to Mateo, and began rolling up her soiled calico sleeves quite to her shoulders, revealing a thin, though well proportioned and not altogether unattractive pair of arms. She then stripped the cheap tinsel bracelets from her wrists, and hid them in her bosom.

As the music increased in volume she wrists, and hid them in her bosom.

As the music increased in volume she shut her eyes and stretched out her long nrms as a panther sometimes does; then lifted them above her head, and instantly they fell into the rhythm of the music. Her feet now began to move, and a peculiar swaying motion started as if from her heels, ran up through her limbs, back, and neck, and undulated through her long arms, and lost itself in her finger, tips.

This was repeated again and again.

her finger-tips.

This was repeated again and again, each movement increasing in intensity; her eyes flashing with a light rare even in a panish gypsy. She stamped her feet, swayed her body backward and forward, almost touched the floor with her hair, and then suddenly rushed forward, appealing to you with her outstretched arms.

appealing to you with her outstretched arms.

The music seemed to possess her like a spell. She became grace itself, her movements sylphlike—and, if you will believe it, positively beautiful. As the music quickened, her gestures became more violent; as it died away, you could hardly believe she moved—and she did not, except the slight shuffling of her feet, which kept up the spell within her.

The elect on the audience was startling. Men rose to their feet, bending forward and watching her every motion. The women clapped their hands, encouraging her with cries of "Ollef olle! Bravo, ha Ionts!" Suddenly the music ceased, and La Tonta stood perfectly still. Her eyes opened, her arms fell limp beside her, her back straightened, and she woke as if from a trance: Giving a quick glance around, she gathered her skirts in her hand, and limped rather than walked through the hall and out into the side room, if anything more awkward than when she entered.

IT MAY not be a recable, at all times, to have hens running at large, but it is their nature, and with the exercise they get, and the variety of food, the produc-tion of eggs is usually much increased.

EXPERIENCE teaches that the earlier in an animal's age fud feeding is resorted to the better it is, both for its vigorous health and raild growth. Thus will the best returns be secured, whether the animal be intended for early sale or for residual.

FARMERS would find it to their advant-FARMERS would find it to their advantage to corn mutton in a week brine for home consumption. The hams can be smoked and used like dried beef, or they can be boiled. The corned mutton will be found an agreeable change from sausage and spare-rib.

ETACNANT water on the farm will not only injure the crops, but will breed disease. Many cases of diphtheria, typhcid fever, etc., may be traced to a wreat of underdrainage. Cows drinking such water cannot give milk pure in quality. All low places upon which water will collect should receive attention.

A Western farmer says a common mistake is turning cows into a pasture in the carly spring, before there is a sufficient supply of grass. In their search is latter cropping they pack the soil and destroy much grass. After there is a supply of grass care must be taken to allow only a limited range at first.

ENGLISH farmers think that ensilage may be preserved by being pressed very compactly into bales. They state that in Lelgium it is customary to bale it. The outer portions of the bale, however, become a ightly injured, which may be avoided ly using straw for an outer covering, which may be also pressed with the ensilage.

The mast money to be derived from theep keeping is by raising mutton and wool together. A lamb that will bring 5 returns seven times as much profit as one calf can do; and seven 20-month-old wethers that bring $40 to $50 will pay this as we'l 23 a cow or steer at that price, excluding the value of the wool. As regards mutton, there can be no competition against the farmers, as there is with beef, for mutton is essentially a farm product.

The oat crop is too generally treated as of little consequence and often sown late on land not regarded as fit for anything circ. So long as this practices prevails the average yield and profit is likely to be very small. The fact that in many places calls are mainly fed to stock leads to this neglect. They are not the crop on which the farmer relies to raise money to pay hired help or to clear off mortgages. Lut those who give oats good trettment find that the crop is as remonsive to good culture and manure as any other.

THE Oroville (Cal.) Register takes the following hopeful view of the political situation: The election of Harrison and the success of protection means much to Califorula. It means that our woolgrowers shall not be left to the tender mercies of foreign competition; that our fruit men and raisin growers shall receive the fostering care necessary to the development of the industries upon which the future wealth and prosperity of the State depend. It means new woolen mills and manufactories in dozens of Suicide of a Noted Chicago growing towns, with steady employment to thousands of laborers. It means rapid settlement and growth of all the industries of the State. The tariff question has been settled, and whatever reforms in the tariff may be necessary will be carried out without danger to the prosperity of California. Our Congressm'n will not have to beg in vain that the products of this State shall not be put on the free list, nor apologize to their constituents for the action of the majority with which they affiliate, lut in whose action they have no voice. With a Republican President in the White House, California will not be neglected or wronged It is well for our State that the days of tariff tinkering are over.

AT the present time it is a foregone conclusion that the Republican party will have a majority in the House o! Representatives. What that means for the country, the promises of the Republican party as given in its platform merely outline. In the first place, the adjustment of the tariff on the lines that will work the greatest good to the greatest number will be one of the most important. The gradual reduction of the public debt, which is not in such a shape as yet that the hoarded millions in the Treasury can be applied to it immediately, leaves an open sea to served notices on tenants in 1882, sious States, regulating the translaunch a boat of tariff reform. Not, however, such a one as is found to wreck itself upon the industrial rocks of American mannfactures, but are such that will reach into the pockets of the workingmen and let them feel the benefits fit. Then will naturally come the admission of the Territories. and a reorganization and redistricting of the entire Union.

London, Nov. 20.-The Parnell Commission resumed its sitting this morning. Attorney-General Webster, counsel fo. the Times, complained of the difficulty experierced in bringing witnesses from County Kerry. He called the Judges' attention to an article in the Kerry Sentinel, Edward Harrington's paper, which stated that the Judges composing the Parnell Commission were showing signs of corruption, although at the opening of the .nquiry they appeared to be spoiless; that the Judges were the creatures of a conspiracy entered into by the Government and the Times, and were manifestly united.

The Attorney-General appealed to the Court to take action in the matter, as such publications tended to defeat justice, and amounted to the grossest contempt. Reid, on behalf of Harrington, complained that no notice of this character has and the 1st of December of each third of a help she was and the 1st of December of each wind of a help she was and war? been given them, and it was absolutely impossible to make answer at present. Powderly's Popularity. INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 20 .- That Powderly still has control of the Knights of Labor convention was shown this morning when the Committee on Law submitted their report, recommending amendments in accordance with Powderly's recommendation. It is intended to carry out the one man power, which he advoca ed and provides for a General Master Workman, Worthy Foreman, General Secretary, Treasurer and General Director of womans work. The General Executive Board con sists of four members, besides the General Master Workman, and the General Co-operative Board shall consist of two members besides the General Worthy Foreman. All except the General Executive Board and General Co-operative Board will be taken from the floor of the General As-sembly, and when elected shall serve two years. This is a reduction of two members in each Board, besides a union of the offices of Secretary and Treasurer. But the place where Powderly's influence most appears is an article which provides that the General Master Workman shall be Chairman ex-officio of the General Executive Board, and shall, as soon as practicable, submit to the Genas practicable, submit to the General Assembly the names of eight persons, from which the General Assembly shall select four mem-This will ! e done as soon as possible, and at the same session at which the General Master Workman is elected. Storing His Child's Prattlings and Screams For Future Reference.

According to the New York Herald. Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, has been interesting his inventive faculmeeting of the National Cattle ties with his new baby and a phonograph at his home. When the baby crowed with glee, the crow was registered on the phonograph; when it got mad and yelled, its piercing screams was irrevocably recorded on the same machine. That phonograph is now a receptacle of every known noise peculiar to babyhood. It is Mr. Edison's intention to take a record of the strength of the baby's lungs every and she can see for herself just what kind of a baby she was, and won't have to take her mother's and the nurse's words for it."

A PRE-PIONEER.

One of Kenrney's soldiers of Forty

Reno boasts of a citizen who has but ew living fellows in point of residence on the Pacific Coast. M. S. Totten enlisted in Ohio for the Mexican war and was in Gen. Kearney's army of three companies in its march from Santa Fe to Los Angeles in 1846. After the marches and battles of 1847 peace was concluded and the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo signed February 2, 1848, and Kearney's men were discharged. Gold having been found in September, 1847, the men mostly took to the rivers, Mr. Totten going up the Stanislaus. Flour was a dollar a pound and everything else in proportion, and Mr. Totten's earnings were mostly taken up by grub bills. He afterwards lived in Stockton, Sacramento, Los Angeles and Auburn, and in Carson, Nevada, where he joined the society of Pioneers. Like other Californians he has had rich and poor streaks, but has paid but little attention to the freaks of future. He has never had a family of his own and was equally rich whether his purse was light or heavy. He is nearly 64 and has never been back to Ohio since he left there, over 42 years ago. Mr. Totten is a very quiet ma and no one who meets him would imagine that he had lived a life of adventure. and poor streaks, but but little attention to

A Rich Development.

The Central Nevadan says: From reliable source we learn that a rich strike has been made in the Onondaga mine. We were shown samples of an assay value of from $200 to $400 per ton, taken from a three-fioot ledge, which was struck a few days ago. Geo. O'Briter, the Superintendent, has truck a pen employed taking out or twelve men employed taking out ore and is shipping at the rate of one carload per day to Salt Lake for reduc-tion. The property is owned by San Francisco parties and this discovery is a most weicome one to them, and will result in a great revival of interest in the mines of that district.

District Court.

Yesterday, in the case of Wedekind vs. the Southern Pacific railroad, the venire was exhausted after securing To get full value for your money go to C. J. Brookins for your candies and eight jurors, when another venire was At this point the defense asked that an examination of the character and extent of defendant's injuries be then had, to which the plaintiff's counsel objected. After argument, it was finally agreed to defer the examination until the plaintiff had concluded

A Social Arrangement.

The latest device for making church sociables pleasant is to give to each person a card on which are written twelve names, and each person is required to talk full five minutes with every one whose name is on the list. At the close of the five minutes a bell is struck and a new partner is sought. It is a good plan to break up society cliques, and it is a deadener on the reserved and bashful ones.

Novel Currency.

In some counties in Dakota there is bounty of five cents each on prairie dogs' tails, and in one section of the Territory these tails pass as currency. A man goes into a saloon and pays for the cigars in gopher tails, and at church they are put into the contribution box.

Thrown from a Buggy. Last Sunday, in Washoe Valley, Misses Nettie and Niva, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Winters, were severely but not dangerously hurt, by being thrown from a buggy. Dr. Ho-gan, who is attending the young ladies, says they will soon be all right.

NEVADA'S RESOURCES.

Hon. Wm. Thompson is doing good work towards advertising Western Ne vada and her products. He is in daily receipt of hundreds of letters asking for information regarding our climate and resources, and to supply the demand for such information he is having printed 10,000 pamphlets for distribution. His exhibit at the San Francisco Board of Trade rooms create a demand for further information and it is bringing our State and county into prominence. The San Francisco Ex-Senator Stewart of Nevada was among the visitors to the rcoms of the State Board of Trade yesterday. He expressed great surprise at the mag-nificent exhibit and said: "I little thought that when I appeared before the members of your board over a year ago and spoke in regard to the impor-tance of this work that it would ever reach such mamnoth proportions. To say that you have exceeded my fond-est anticipations would be putting it

I am glad to see Nevada represe here and to learn that she has been so freely and generously received into affiliation with your board. You have my best wishes for the future." Senator Jones expressed himself in similar terms, and promised the board the finest collections of Nevada's mineral products that can be procured. A carload of the miscellaneous pro-ducts of the State of Nevada is expected to arrive to-day, and another carload will come from Oregon. H. M. Yerington and D. A. Bender

H. M. Yerington and D. A. Bender also visited the rooms and promised to aid in every way possible in the good work. One thing that is of great importance to the success of the enterprise is for the railroad company to grant lay-over privileges to those comping to this coast, and all that is required to get it is a united effort upon the part of our people. The GAZETTE would suggest that a PUBLIC MEETING Be called in the near future to talk up the matter and have an organized effort on behalf of the people to accomplish the most possible good. Now is the time to take action so that we can get the benefit of the large influx of people that will visit the coast this Winter and coming Spring, and the citizens ought to be willing to aid Mr. Thompson in every way possible in his laudable undertaking. Let a meeting be called at once. Senators Stewart and Jones can aid us in getting the stop-over privilege granted, and they will be only too glad to do so if the matter is brought to their atten-tion through the proper channels.

A VALUABLE FRUIT CROP.

Young Trees Yielding at the Rate of Nearly $1,000 an Acre. The Marysville Appeal says: Frank Congdon, who lives about two miles from Smartsville, brought to town yesterday quite a quantity of oranges, grown on his place. They are without blemish and free from scale, and are of unusual size, while the color is higher than on the ripening oranges in this city. He presented A. D. Cutts with a cluster of eleven, and S. O. Gunning with one of seven. Mr.

Congdon says that from eight trees last year his daughter gathered over $75 worth of fruit for pin money. This year he will have the profits from twenty-five trees, and intends to plant rate of one hundred to the acre, or twenty feet apart. Nine dollars to the tree would be $900 to the acre. The yield need be no more than 450 oranges to the tree, and the price $2 a hundred, to make a gross return of $900 to the acre. Of course, in large orchards, such returns are seldom realized. But even one half, or one quarter such an income, would be large.

A NEW USE FOR SUGAR.

Considered Superior to Salt in Preserving Meats. The French Ministry of Agriculture has recently had a number of tests made, which all go to show that meat can be preserved by sugar in a much more satisfactory manner than by salt. The salt is somewhat cheaper, but its effect is to destroy to quite a degree the nutritive qualities of the meat with which it is brought into contact; while if meat is packed in powdered sugar a coating is formed over the outside, the juices of the meat are retained, and not the least harm results. When sugar-preserved meat is to be used, all that is necessary is the soaking of it in water, which speedily removes whatever traces there may be of the preserving substance. It is thought that the result of this investigation may lead in time to important changes in the meat-preserving industry. effect is to destroy to quite a degree the the meat-preserving industry.

The "Chronicle's" New Press. The San Francisco Chronicle is to have a new press which will turn out eight, ten and twelve page Chronicles at the rate of 48,000 per hour. They can be also adjusted so as to print twenty-four, twenty or sixteen pages at a time, which will be de-livered pasted, cut and folded to the carrier for distribution, or to the mail carrier for distribution, or to the mail clerk ready for putting on the wrapper without any additional folding. The eight, ten and twelve pages are also cut, folded and pasted. The introduction of this new press will bring about a change in the apparent size of the paper, but not an actual diminution, as it is proposed to print ten and twelve pages daily, instead of eight as at present.

Mrs. Harris is the name of a widow in Topeka, Kansas, who has done an original thing, says an exchange. She has put up over her husband's grave a lasting memorial of the illness which caused his death—mania-a-potu. At the base of a simple granite shaft is carved a mass of coiling and writhing snakes. Above is cut his name and age and the simple sentence: "Died of Delirium Tremens." BREVITIES.

M. sharp, to recorders for the relief of the cramp of the muscles of the hand, which follows long continued and steady use of the pen. The relief is instantaneous, and clerks who were formerly compelled at times to stop work for several days on account of swelling and contraction of the muscles of the hand now take a few gentle shocks of the electric current on the slightest approach of stiff-ness. They return to work at once, entirely relieved, and continue without Nearly every one of inconvenience. Nearly every one of the score of clerks receives benefit from the electric current, and the battery is regarded as an indispensable fixture to the office.

Enameling a Lady's Face.

All the materials for the operation being at hand, the operator begins to overlay the skin of his patient with a skin of his own composing. He applies the enamel to her face, and then to her bust. This enamel consists chiefly of white lead or arsenic, made into a semi-liquid paste. It requires a good deal of skill to lay it on so that it shall be smooth and not wrinkled, and two or three hours, and sometimes a much longer time, are consumed in making a good job of it. This being done, there yet remain the finishing touches, and adjuncts of head and cheek-gear. So down she sits again, and he, with his pigment of India ink and pencil of camel hir, paints her ink and pencil of camel hir, paints her eyebrows divinely. Then her cheeks are inlaid with "plumpers," which she brings with her, and which costs her £5. They are made into pads, and composed of a hard substance, which combines various chemical materials. After the cheeks are thus made to look like a young girls, they are carmined with a vegetable liquid rouge, laid on with a young girl's, they are carmined with a vegetable liquid rouge, laid on with a hare's foot. The finale of the make-up is the adjustment of the teeth, which, when properly set, give the mouth a lustre as of opals. The lady then goes away with a chuckle of deep satisfaction as she thinks of the conquests she will make in the evening in the glare of the lamps, wax candles and gas. She has a bust as white as alabaster, with shoulders and arms to match, and warranted to "stand" for six months. Strange facts these, but such fantastic tricks, thank heaven! are not at all common in Eng. heaven! are not at all common in England, however they may obtain in America. At the same time, we fear that our women are not wholly sans reproche in the matter.

Anniversary of a Bell.

The busy city of Breslau, in Prussia, found time in 1886 to celebrate the five hundredth birthday of a church bell. A tragic story of the casting of this bell has kept it famous throughout Germany for a longer period than has elapsed since the discovery of America.

When the metal cooled and the bell was tried, it was found to be of admirable tone and finish—the founder's master-piece. Stricken with remorse, he gave himself up to the magistrate, and was condemned to expiate his crime by death. He walked to the place of execution to the tolling of his own bell, calling upor all the people to pray for "the poor sin ner." The bell has ever since borne the name of the Poor Sinner's Bell.

At that early period Breslan was a

At that early period Breslau was a country villag: of little note. It has now grown to be the seat of the linen manufacture of Silesia, and next to Berlin, the lacture of Siesia, and next to Berlin, the largest city of Prussia. The anniversary of the founding of the Poor Sinner's Bell was not forgotten, however. The bell was rung morning and evening, and the pastor of the church preached a sermon in honor of the occasion, in which he told once more the well-remembered tale.

"Toners, what do you think you would like best for a birtuday present?"
"Well, I'll tell you, grandpa. I think I would like one of your wigs. Then it wouldn't hurt to have my hair combed."

AN OLD SCOTCH GAME.

Shuffle Board a Delightful Game to Pass an Evening.

Curling is no doubt Scotch in origin and shuffle board is curling adapted to summer. It is played on a smooth board, 32 feet long and about 18 inches wide. Along each side of the board is a board, 32 feet long and about 18 inches wide. Along each side of the board is a channel or gutter to catch the pieces when they slide off the board. The pieces are iron pound-weights, such as are used on grocer's scales, male per ectly smooth on the bottom. The player shoves a weight along the board with a quick motion and force enough to slide it to the end. Six inches from the end a line is drawn across the board. The object of the player is to make his weight cross that line and stop within the six-inch space. To do this it is very evident that he must gauge the force of his play with delicate accuracy.

When two persons play each uses four weights and they play alternately. A weight that stops short of the line counts one point if it is not behind the opponent's pieces. Inside the six-inch space every piece counts two. One that projects beyond the end of the board without falling off is called a ship and counts three. Only those pieces count which remain on the board when the eight have been played, and 21 points make a have been played, and 21 points make a

In one respect shuffle board is like base ball—the poorer the play the faster the score runs up. The good player ap-plies his efforts to ruining his opponent's plies his chorts to running his opponent's score as well as to increasing his own, and between two skillful men a game drags along at the rate of about one or two points to an inning. The man who plays last generally makes the only point. The reason is that each player aims to knock his opponent's page off the board plays last generally makes the only point. The reason is that each player aims to knock his opponent's piece off the board, and does it most every time. For example A plays and leaves his piece inside the space that counts two. B plays and knocks that piece over the border or off the board, leaving his own in its pace. A then does the same thing, and each piece goes that way until B's last pay, when he knocks off A's fourth piece, and leaves his own to count. If one of them fails to remove a piece, that piece will be protected on the next play by his opponent, who sends along a weight to stop about two feet behind it in a direct line. It is pretty difficult to get both of these off at one shot because the weights argoricular and are pretty sure to glance when they meet. If the forward piece when they meet. If the forward piece when they meet. If the opponent may try to curve his weight around the protecting piece, just as a pitcher curves a ball, and so knock it off, leaving his own in its place. But that is difficult and requires very accurate work. A first class quire: very accurate work. A first-class player, however, seldom gives his adver-

The accuracy with which a weight can be shot along a 32-foot board and made to stop just short of the end is surprising to a novice. The board upon which the playing is done is planed smooth and perfectly level, but it is not polished. It is lectly level, but it is not polished. It is covered with a fine dry sand, and old players are very particular about the quality of that material. It must be live and perfectly dry. Sand that has been used for half an hour becomes useless. The particles loss their sharpness through the constant attrition, and the sand is then dead. No good player will play on dead sand. He cannot gauge his play on it at all. When a match is being played the sand is changed frequently, say every quarter of an hour or so.

Although the game has fallen into decadence there are some old Scotchmen

Although the game has failen into de-cadence there are some old Scotchmen who keep it up and swear that it beats billiards and pool and everything else all hollow. A lot of them will get down into one of the places where shuifle boards can be found, and have a braw time of it for a whole evening.

The rain was still failing when Ballynahinch was left behind, but on the moor to the left two witchlike figures were seen, their heads half wrapped in plaid shawls, their limbs showing through wet, short skirts, and their s.nali red feet and legs flying from tuit to tuft of the moss. They were native girls, driving the small coal-black cuttle of these wild uplands, and the sight of the driver, an ancient friend, put them in the wildest ancient friend, put them in the winest spirits. They swooped down on the car and were soon seated, laughing and sing-ing, brushing the wet from their taugled hair and their hair from their red cheeks, but not forgetting to smooth the skirts of the rough homespun modestly about their bare extremities. They were redolent of peat smoke, like the poleen they brew here in spite of all the constables; f good health, good homor, and or that indescribable fragrance which comes from living almost completely out of doors.

Presently we drew up before their own house. They seized various parcels comng to them from Galway, and in a twinkling they plunged into a comfortable looking cabin of large size like a brace of colts, with a flourish of their red heels. The men and boys of the tamily wore shoes; doubtless on Sundays these same headlong lasses turn out as well shod as any in Connemara. A few years hence these girls will be in the United States puzzling an American mistress by their ignorance on some points and unnatural acuteness of others. If she could see the interiors of some of these cabins she would only wonder how they ever learn to use the resources of 'modern improve-ments.' Much is being done in Ir. land to give all children a good schooling in the elements of book wisdom, but there is no provision for the training of s rvan.s, wherefore there is much wailing in American households gr. at misunderstandings, and many chances of proutable places lost to this class of emigrants. For this reason it is to be feared that our young friends, when better cothed, fed and housed than they are now, will be no longer so jolly and devil-may care.

Cremation.

The first furnace for the cremation in America of bodies of the dead was erected at Washington, Pa., in 1876, by Dr. F. J. Le-Moine, at a cost of $1,000. The first cremation (that of Baron de Palm) took place December 6 of the same year. The process occupied about two hours, and was very successful in its results. The ashes were placed in an urn. The process secured objectionable to many, and some excitement was caused throughout the country. Since then crematories have been erected in several large cities, and the process of cremation is not regarded with much cariosity.
